ALL OVER THE WORLD IN A WEEK.

Clement A. Day was hanged at Utica, N. Y., on Thursday week for the murder of his mistress, Rosa Cross, last June.

An ovarian tumor that weighed thirty pounds was last week removed from Mrs. B. F. Holder, at Winchester, from the effects of which she died.

John Knifton, an Englishman, has offered to fight John L. Sullivan, America's champion slugger, for $200—about $10,000—and the championship belt.

The Indianapolis Sentinel was last week sold to a Fort Wayne syndicate for $75,000. They bid it in too high. We would have relinquished THE HERALD for half the amount.

At Lexington, last week the Norton Iron Works at Ashland, paid State Appellate $30,000, the amount of a judgment obtained against them for the use of land in Eastern Kentucky.

Mrs. Sue K. Burch, Postmistress at Georgetown, died Wednesday week of typhoid pneumonia. Less than a year ago she was appointed to the unexpired term of her husband, who died after filling the position for only six months.

Governor Wilson, of West Virginia, has issued a requisition on Governor Buckner for twenty-eight men who are charged with having participated in the killing of William Dempsey in Logan County, W. Va., on the 19th of last month in a fight between the Hatfields and McCoys.

Several years ago the city of Lexington sent an agent to New York to sell five refunding bonds of the Big Sandy Railroad, issue of 1858. The bonds were lost, and after a fruitless search new ones were issued. Last week the old bonds, amounted to $12,500, turned up and were presented for payment by the Adams Express Company. The Mayor has advised the City Council not to accept them, as they show fraud, and the Express Company proposes to bring suit for the amount.

A. J. Alexander, of Woodford County, has sent to Morehead, Rowan County, 500 pounds of flour, also 600 pounds of flour and some clothing to the Old Furnace, in Estill County, and 600 pounds of flour and other things to Sand Hill, Estill County, for distribution. He also gave $50 to finish a church at Sand Hill a few years since, and $200 to a church in Morehead, $100 to a church in Freneburg, and nearly $100 more to one in Hazel Green and one in Breathitt County. May the Lord bless those who remember the poor, and He is sure to do it for it is His promise.—Winchester Sun.

A serious cutting affray occurred Wednesday night week at Sharpsburg, in Bath County, in which Henry Hart was stabbed in several places by a man named Owings. The difficulty happened in Ratelliff's store, and came about over a brother of Hart, who is deaf and dumb, and who had for some reason been put out of the store. When Henry Hart took up the quarrel in behalf of his brother, Owings got Hart down on the floor, and was using his knife on him vigorously when a small brother of Hart picked up a small weight and struck Owings in the forehead, knocking him senseless. But for this timely interference of Hart's brother, Owings would have killed Hart.

A Catlettsburg special to the Cincinnati Enquirer, Feb. 7th, says: A protracted meeting of more than usual interest has been in progress here for the past month, conducted by Rev. J. M. Evans, of Maysville, and Ruling Elder J. H. Hopper, of Perryville, Evangelists of the Presbyterian Church. The meeting has assumed huge proportions, and surpasses any thing of the kind ever held here, and the interest is unabating. The church is crowded to suffocation nightly. Up to tonight there had been 128 conversions, eighty-three of whom have connected themselves with the Presbyterian Church, the remainder going to the Methodist and Baptist Churches. The meeting is still in progress.

At Fort Smith, Arkansas, last week, seven Indian Territory murderers were sentenced by Judge Parker in the United States Court to be hanged on Friday, April 27th: Owen D. Hill, colored, for the murder of his wife in July, 1887; Jack Crow, colored, for the murder of Charles B. Wilson, a Choctaw, in the Choctaw Nation in 1885; George Moss, colored, for the murder of George Taft, in Red River County, Choctaw Nation, in September, 1887; Jefferson Hildebrand, Cherokee, for the murder of John Ridgeway, near Coffeyville, Cherokee Nation, in May, 1885; William Alexander, colored, for committing rape upon his stepdaughter, Ella Whitfield, in Choctaw Nation; Emanuel Patterson, colored, for the murder of Deputy Marshal Willard R. Ayers, who was trying to arrest him in Choctaw Nation in 1881; Richard Southerland, white, for the murder of one of his renters, Jake Burrows, in September, 1885.

Washington news for the last week: The Committee on Indian Affairs reported favorably to the Senate the bill providing for the opening to settlement of the Sioux Indian reservation in Dakota. It provides that the treaty shall be ratified by two-thirds of the Indians interested in the lands. The Ways and Means Committee reported the following bill: Be it enacted, etc.,—That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to apply the surplus money now in the Treasury and not otherwise appropriated, or so much thereof as he may consider proper, to the purchase or redemption of United States bonds. Mr. Collins, of Massachusetts, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a bill to provide for holding terms of the United States Court and District Courts for the District of Kentucky at Owensboro. House calendar. Mr. McCreary, of Kentucky, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported a joint resolution authorizing the President to arrange a conference for the purpose of promoting arbitration and encouraging reciprocal commercial relations between the United States and the Republics of Mexico, Central and South America and the Empire of Brazil. House calendar. The friends of Col. A. E. Stevenson, First Assistant Postmaster General, are uneasy about his health. He left for Florida Tuesday, and they hope that he will return to his duties fully restored and in good condition. A favorable report has been made from the House Committee on War Claims for the payment of $5,000 to the First Baptist Church at Smithland, Ky., for the use and occupancy of their building by United States troops during the war.

It is not entirely clear that the proposed interest law is as innocent, useful and needful as it has been represented, though a number of the State papers have endorsed it. The Henderson News smells the odor of the shark about it, and says: "It is contended that our legal rates of interest are so low that it drives invested loaning capital from the State into other localities where a higher rate is allowed. The change now advanced will permit as much as ten per cent. per annum to be charged instead of six per cent. as at present. * * * If capitalists will not invest their means in Kentucky unless our laws favor plucking honest poverty, then let them and their money keep away. Miserly Shylocks and unfeeling money vampires are usually a curse to a generous and Christian community, and the sooner good laws are made and enforced to squelch them the better for the country.—In and About in Courier-Journal.

"Put 'er here," pards. "Them's our sentiments," as the fellow retiring to bed remarked upon seeing a printed prayer on the wall. Development can never come to our State if it depends upon the Shylocks for salvation.

Dr. Walter B. Rodman, serving a twenty-one-years' sentence in the penitentiary at Indianapolis, Ind., was released on parole last week by Governor Gray. In 1868 Rodman, while returning home from a hunting trip, was approached threateningly by a neighbor, and he struck the man over the head with his gun, crushing his skull and killing him. Rodman went West, settled in Newberry, Mo., and afterwards spent three years at the St. Louis Medical College, studying medicine. He graduated in 1873 and began the practice of his profession. A divorced wife of his brother had him arrested in 1878 for his old crime, and he was taken back to Indiana for trial. He was convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for twenty-one years. In the meantime he had married, had several children and was one of the most highly esteemed citizens. His pardon was recommended by all the Court officers who tried him.

Two Legislative Investigation Committees were at Lexington last Friday looking into the working respectively of the State College and the Eastern Kentucky Lunatic Asylum. The Committee on the State College will report in favor of abolishing the classical course and confining the students to the study of science and the English branches. This will exclude from the College hundreds of boys who have gone there for a general education, and not alone for the study of agriculture. It will also exclude a great many ladies, and will lead to the abandonment of the lectures to the students of the Normal School. On Friday last the Wapwallopen Powder Works, twenty miles from Wilkesbarre, Pa., were blown up. Four men were killed and many others wounded. Not a house is standing within one mile of where the explosion occurred. The works destroyed belonged to the Duponts, of Wilmington, Del., and were used principally for the manufacture of blasting powder, which was supplied in great quantities to the many coal mines in the vicinity. The shock was distinctly felt at Wilkesbarre, and at many other points equally distant. A boiler explosion at Wabash, Indiana, killed two men. Near Bellevue, Ohio, two men digging for buried dynamite, were blown up and killed.

The Kentucky Legislature gives the Newport and Covington Bridge Co. just six years to complete the little job.

James Redpath is recovering. He has written Louis E. Post as follows: "The doctors say I am going to die. I'll be hanged if I do until I see this thing through."

Gen. Moses Cleveland, founder of Cleveland, O., is to have a $5,000 granite monument there, to be dedicated July 22nd, under the charge of the Early Settlers' Association.

At Macon (Ga.) last Friday, a super-sedeas was granted in the case of Woolfolk, who was to have been hanged for the murder of his father, mother and five brothers and sisters.

Daniel Hindman and J. P. Lord were arrested at Washington, D. C., Friday night for grave robbing. At the time they had three bodies, which they were taking to a Medical College.

M. A. Goodman, who has been carrying the mail between Knoxville (Tenn.) and Sevierville, was arrested Friday for riding letters. His peculations amount to a large sum, although in the service only a short time.

Arbuckle, the coffee man, has 500 girls employed in picking coffee, at an average salary of $12 per week.

It looks to us like that would be a good chance to get returns on his K. M. Q.'s, for half of $45,000.

Workmen engaged in demolishing an old building, a historic landmark, at Evansville, Ind., found an old copper box in which was $6,000 in ten and twenty-dollar gold pieces. The workmen made an equal division of the find among themselves.

John Meeks, of Madison County, cultivated last year twenty-five acres of land belonging to Senator John D. Harris, and raised 25,000 pounds of tobacco, which was sold at twenty-five cents per pound. The land was cultivated on the shares, and each received $100 per acre.

In breaking the ground in a place near Kincardine, Ont., the other day a skeleton, which to all appearances is that of a wild bear, was found. All the bones, including the tusks and teeth, were in splendid condition, though it is thought they have been lying there for 100 or 200 years.

A Tennessee farmer, whose land was under mortgage and about to be taken away from him, fell on his knees in the field in prayer. When he got up he seized the plow with a new grip, gave the old mule a vigorous lick, and before he had gone twenty feet he turned up a jug with over $600 in gold and silver in it.

As Silas Collins was coming to town yesterday morning he encountered a deer crossing the road just above the mouth of Straight Creek in sight of town. The deer ran through John Mark's yard and across a field, followed by four bullets from Mr. Collins' gun and made its escape. It came out of the mountains to see how the new hotel was getting along in order that it might prepare itself for the opening feast.—Pineville Messenger, Feb. 8.

The mite of a baby recently born to Ida Stevenson, a mulatto woman in Cairo, Ill., was found by accurate measurements to have the following dimensions: Length from head to heel, 14 inches; length of foot 2 inches; knee to side of foot, 3 1/2 inches; length of hand, 1 1/4 inches; circumference of ankle, 1 1/4 inches; length of middle finger, 9-16 of an inch; circumference of wrist, 13-16 of an inch; chest, 8 1/2 inches; weight, 13 1/2 pounds. The midget is bright, cries loudly and will live.

John Warren, a negro residing in Boston, a suburb of this town, shot and dangerously, if not fatally, wounded his wife on Friday afternoon. Warren was arrested and placed in Jail, where he remained until Monday, when he was brought before Judge Gaines for trial. He waived an examination and his bail was placed at $500 for his appearance at Circuit Court. Being unable to give it he was sent to Jail. The cause of the difficulty was jealousy upon the part of the husband.—Georgetown News-Enterprise.

Mr. McCarthy, Constable of Payne's Depot, arrested last week Alex Robertson, alias Driver, on James Brook's farm, for assaulting his wife near Midway and took him there for trial. The Magistrate before whom he was tried fined him $5 and cost which he paid. The next day two Policemen from Lexington came and arrested him upon the charge of stealing meat and he is now in the Lexington Jail. He was wanted at Watkinsville last summer for cutting another negro, but McCarthy was unable to find him while he had the warrant in his possession.—Georgetown News-Enterprise.

Col. John B. Castleman, Major W. H. Coen, Lieut. Ernest McPherson, and Capt. Eugene Bly, of the Louisville Legion; Majors Roger Williams and Verner Johnson, of Lexington, and Senator McKee, who is also a Colonel of the Kentucky State Guard, held a conference in Frankfort Wednesday to consider some proposed amendments to the military law. As a result of the conference, a bill was drafted and it will be presented soon to the Legislature. It proposes to establish a per capita tax of twenty-five cents on each male over thirteen years of age for the purpose of raising a fund for the support of the State Guard. This will give about $16,000 annually, which, with the allowance of the United States Government of equipments equal in value to $13,000, will place the guard on a comfortable footing. Another amendment proposes to restrict military affairs to the State Guard. This is in accordance with the suggestion of the Governor in his message to the Legislature.—Lexington Press, Feb. 9.

The contractors of all the railroads in Kentucky and the South, are making their arrangements to begin the work of completing the projecting lines, or making surveys for new ones, by March 1st, and the outlook promises one of the most prosperous years of railroad building ever known in the South. On the Louisville Southern, the Mayville and Big Sandy, the Pineville extension of the L. & N., the Ohio Valley road, the L. and St. L. and T., the activity has already begun, and fair weather is all that is wanted to make a boom of railroad building. On the Cumberland Gap road, large forces of men are already at work, and the task of making the tunnel has begun.

People of the neighborhood of Sigler's Landing, on the Mississippi River, are exercised in regard to fire which has been burning beneath the surface since the forest fires of last fall. The smoke has been constantly issuing from crevices in the earth, and not even the recent heavy snow and sleet and rains seem to have any effect on it. It is thought there is a bed of coal beneath the surface which caught during the fire alluded to.

Those who believed that Congress would be obliged to do something with the tariff and revenue questions, and that there was no way to resist the public demand for action, are relaxing in their opinions, and many of them have turned to the belief that nothing will be done. Ten weeks have elapsed since the assembling of Congress, and not a step has been taken that is visible to the naked eye.

Dr. J. M. Bradley, a leading physician of South Pittsburgh, Tenn., left home recently with a large amount of money on his person, to go a short distance in the country on a professional visit. Search has been instituted for him, but he can not be found. His friends think he has been murdered for his money and his body hidden.

Mrs. Nannie Clark, living near Hopkinsville, on Friday went out to ring the big farm bell to call the men to dinner, when its fastening gave way and it fell upon her, knocking her down and cutting a fearful gash in her head. She received other serious injuries, and her recovery is doubtful.

The application for a writ of error before the United States Supreme Court by John J. Cornelson, in the Mt. Sterling Jail, has been denied. This was his last resort, and he will now have to serve his sentence out. It looks like he is a persecuted man.

Lexington (Ky.) saloon keepers, some 300 strong, propose to boycott the farmers of Fayette County, because the Grand Jury last November found so many indictments against them, while, as they claim, other and more serious evils were unnoticed.

A new counterfeit five-dollar silver certificate has been put in circulation. The bill is about three-sixteenths of an inch too short and there are no distinctive lines in the paper. The general appearance is good and calculated to deceive.

George B. Higgins, a wealthy young man, of Lexington, Ky., who recently left for parts unknown, and whose young wife is seeking divorce, has written a letter entirely exonerating his wife from all blame in the matter.

In the United States District Court at Louisville, Judge Barr granted the writ of habeas corpus for the Hatfields now confined in the Pike County Jail, and the case will be heard in Louisville.

The Legislative Committee to investigate affairs in Rowan County, find the grossest neglect of official duties, and will recommend that the county be abolished.

Samuel Clay, the owner of 9,000 acres of land in Bourbon and Clark Counties, and said to be worth $1,000,000, died at his home in Bourbon on Monday.
